At a recent meeting of the trustees of the Canyon Public Schools it was voted to provide a lunch room for the pupils who wish to eat a hot lunch at school. The building committee is now working on the installation of the equipment which has been ordered. It is doubtful if the lunch room can be opened for business before October 1, however, all possible haste will be made. As soon as possible information as to the time of opening and the cost of the lunch will be made available.

A manager of the lunch room and two or three helpers will be needed. Any person interested in such employment should contact Superintendent J. B. Speer for the necessary application blank and information.

Use of blue ration tokens will be discontinued after October 1, as a result of removal of these foods from rationing. Consumers may use their blue tokens just as they have always used them, until September 17. Beginning September 17, retailers will not give blue tokens to customers for ration change.

From September 17 through September 30, shoppers will be able to spend their blue tokens only in groups of ten. Fewer than ten tokens cannot be used.

Albert Fischbacher Home is Wrecked in Explosion

Fischbacher Home Is Wrecked and Four Members Family Are Injured

Gas Explosion on Thursday Morning Wipes Out Farm Home and All Furniture

The Albert Fischbacher home north of Umbarger was completely wrecked Thursday morning and four members of the family put into the hospital for treatment as the result of a gas explosion.

Mr. Fischbacher lit the butane gas burner under the hot water tank on the back porch. He heard a roar as the flames traveled from the burner to a gas pocket which had evidently formed under the house. Mrs. Fischbacher was with him at the time but both turned toward a door when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Fischbacher suffered a broken arm and three broken ribs by the explosion. Mr. Fischbacher was the only member of the family at home who escaped without injury.

Four children had gone to school at Umbarger. The three children at home were all injured. Peter, 15, was on the porch; Marcel, 8, was upstairs and was thrown from the house as it was broken into fragments. The 12 month's old baby girl, Anita, was the least injured.

The house was a complete wreck and hundreds of Randall county friends of the family drove out to see the destruction and to offer aid to the suffering family. All the inured were brought to Canyon for medical treatment. The children were taken on to Amarillo for hospital treatment.

The house was a complete wreck. Insurance will partially cover the loss. All the furniture was ruined in the wreck and scattered around the farm yard. No fire was set by the explosion, but the oldest boy suffered burns on the face and chest.

The picture of the wrecked home above indicates the extent of the loss which was sustained by the family in this explosion.

The family has been able to arrange living quarters in buildings on the place. Mrs. Fischbacher and one of the boys were still in the hospital at the last report, but they were recovering satisfactorily.

Plans Made to Furnish Legion Hall

Palo Duro Post, No. 97 held a regular meeting Monday night, Sept. 11. A covered dish supper was enjoyed by the Post and Unit.

This was one of the most valuable meetings in months. Post-war plans for Palo Duro Post were discussed; everyone present expressing his own ideas.

The Post and Auxiliary started the wheel rolling toward furnishing the American Legion Hall. The Hall needs chairs, lounges, tables, and many other items to make this club house second to none for our boys when they come marching home.

The plan to raise the fund for furnishing the American Legion Hall is by individual donations from Veterans of War I, by the Auxiliary Unit, by parents of War II Veterans. Any one who has a friend fighting in the war and would like to see the Legion Home beautifuly furnished for him, please mail your donation to either of the following: Hud Prichard, Andy Walsh, John Hunter.

Let's have the money in the bank by October 9, the next regular meeting of Palo Duro Post No. 97 and the Auxiliary Unit. Our building has been redecorated inside and soon will be painted on the outside. Then with a $1,000 or $1500 worth of furniture Canyon will have an American Legion home second to none for our boys when they come marching home.

T-Sgt. Aldridge Ends Missions and To Return Home

15th AAF in Italy: Technical Sergeant Paul H. Aldridge, whose wife, Mrs. Azeile Jean Aldridge, lives at Canyon, recently flew his 50th combat mission as an engineer with a veteran B-24 Liberator group here.

His group is bombing enemy targets in southern Germany, northern Italy, the Balkans, southern France and Austria.

He flew his first mission when 15th AAF Liberators bombed Bucharest rail communications and his most recent was over the rail road yards at Vinkovici, Yugoslavia.

"The most exciting mission I ever flew was over Weiner Neusadt, Austria," Sgt. Oldridge said. "We were attacked by over a hundred fighters and it was the first time I ever saw rockets being fired at me. The tail gunner of our plane shot down one fighter and the formation got several more. The flak over the target was very heavy but our plane received very few holes. All of us were very thankful to get back alive and uninjured."

Sgt. Aldridge, son of Mr. D. M. Aldridge of 3415 Cornelia Street, Greenville, Texas, is a graduate of Greenville High School, and prior to his entry in the service in January, 1943, was employed at the naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas. He received technical training at Keesler Field, Miss., and the Laredo, Texas, Gunnery School.

He has been awarded the Air Medal with 3 Bronze Oak Leaf Clusters for meritorious achievement in aerial combat.

Mrs. Aldridge, better known as Jean, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Samples. She has been working at the window in the Olympic Theatre since November. She has made her home in Canyon since her husband was sent overseas.

Lt. Roland Black First Canyon Officer to Return from Battle Front in Italy

Lieut. Roland Black is home from Italy where he spent 17 months. He was decorated with the Purple Heart for wounds received in combat against the Germans. He arrived Friday morning and will be at home with his mother, Mrs. Alice Black, until Sept. 29 when he leaves to report at Santa Barbara, Calif. He does not know his future assignment.

Lieut. Black is the first Canyon officer to be returned from the battle front. He was returned home under the army plan of evacuating men according to the length of service in battle. He was in a group of two officers and 15 men from the 42nd Infantry who were returned home. All had been wounded in combat.

Lieut. Black was in Company F when it left Canyon in January, 1941. He was then a sergeant, and received his commission April 1, 1941, at Camp Bowie. He was transferred to Co. E. and trained in Texas, Georgia and Massachusetts before being shipped April 2, 1943. He sailed from pier 13; landed in Africa on April 13; left Africa for Italy on boat 13.

His unit went into action in Africa on Sept. 9, 1943. "I shall never forget that day," states the Lieutenant. The Germans allowed the men to land and then opened up on them on the beach. The 42nd was in action for 10 days before being relieved. It went back into line on Nov. 15 where it spent 100 days pushing the Germans back.

Lieut. Black was wounded at Cassino Feb. 2, 1944. He was in the hospital for five weeks before returning to his company. His unit was in the army which pushed the Germans through Rome, was 150 miles north of Rome when relieved in order to prepare for the invasion of South France.

Companies E and F have been together throughout the campaign. Only 9 Canyon boys are left in Co. F of the 83 that left Canyon in Jan. 1941. The other boys have been scattered throughout the various units. He saw the Canyon boys before leaving, and reported that they were all in good condition in spite of the fact that nearly all have received wounds. Lt. Joe Gill, commander of Co. F, was recently transferred to Co. G. The unit is now in France with the 7th Army.

The Americans were well received by the Italians, but prices were beyond reason. The small towns are filthy, but Rome is a beautiful city. Rome was not damaged because of an agreement between the Pope and the Germans. The Germans were to spare the city in return for a guarantee of good treatment for their many wounded left in Rome.

While in combat, rations were of necessity poor. When out of action the food was good, states the Lieut. The Red Cross gave each man a glass of milk when he landed in America. This was the first fresh milk he had tasted in 17 months. He remarked that can milk could be used in coffee.

Capt. Carl P. Matney, another officer in the 42nd who left with Co. F, is reported to be on his way home.

Sgt. Billy Black, another former member of Co. F, has completed the necessary missions in the Army Air Corps over enemy territory. It is reported that he will soon be returned home.

John Turner House Moved to Canyon

The John Turner house, which stood south of Umbarger, has been moved to Canyon and located on 15th Street by the Mrs. Lindsey home.

The house was built by John Turner south of Umbarger and was a landmark for years. Mr. Turner served as Justice of the Peace in the Umbarger precinct for 22 years before resigning when there was no business for his office.

Harry Woods Is Making Good in Army in France

Mrs. Laura Woods, mother of Private Harry R. Woods formerly of Canyon, received the following letter from E. S. Turner, Colonel, Inf., Commandant, Somewhere in Europe.

"It is pleasant to inform you that your son, Private Harry R. Wood, has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal for having completed more than one year's continuous active federal military service while the United States is at war. This award was made to your son for having demonstrated fidelity through faithful and exact performance of duty, for efficiency through capacity to produce desired results, and because his behavior has been such as to deserve this recognition.

"Fine, diligent men such as Private Wood make our army a force that will not be defeated. Members of this command are proud to be serving with such a man.

"Your son is in good health and is doing his part to bring about speedy, final and lasting victory."

Pvt. Wood was for many years a resident of Canyon. He and his wife were connected with the Buffalo Food for years before buying a Food Store in Happy. Mrs. Wood is operating that store while her husband is in service.

Bond Sales For September Nears the Quota Set

Randall county lacks only $6,035 of selling the September quota of War Bonds, according to R. H. Wright in his weekly statement yesterday.

The quota for the month is $24,100.

The sales up to Tuesday night amounted to $18,065.

Mr. Wright has a letter of appreciation for the splendid record of Randall county in going over the top in the August sales. According to the report, the State of Texas sold only 65% of the August quota.

With the splendid start on September sales, there is little question about Randall county going over the top again in the sale of bonds.

'A' Book Holders Should Ask for New Books Now

Motorists who have not yet made application for renewal of their "A" gasoline ration book are urged to do so immediately so that they will receive their new book before the coupons become valid September 22.

Effective September 15, the requirement that tire inspection records be presented when making application for gasoline or tire replacement is revoked. Drivers will not need their tire inspection records after they receive their new "A" books.

Each motorist will receive a new Mileage Rationing Record, which will thereafter serve as the record of gasoline rations issued.

Dewey on Foreign Affairs

Have you been listening to Governor Dewey as he talked over the radio on his campaign tour? If not, you are overlooking your obligation as a citizen of a great Democracy—or what is supposed to be a Democracy.

Dewey has been throwing everything but the kitchen range at the head of President Roosevelt as he bids for the support of the electorate of the nation. Just how far he is getting in this campaign remains to be seen.

He makes serious charges against the administration. These charges are being answered by various New Deal officials, but the people will prefer to await the answer of the President himself. Perhaps Roosevelt will consider it good politics to ignore the various and sundry charges.

Dewey has at last come out for a strong national program for the purpose of presenting a foreign policy. He has been very quiet on this subject up to the present time.

Friday night he let it be known that he stood for utter defeat of the Axis nations and advocated that the victors maintain a strong force in Germany and Japan to make it impossible for these aggressors ever again to declare war on the other nations of the world. So far so good.

His challenge of the four great powers and the secrecy of their peace talks are not well taken.

First of all, in any group there must be leaders. There may be 60 nations opposing the Axis, but unless and until the four powers of the world decide upon a policy, the lesser nations cannot act. Dewey knows that in any and all organizations there are certain leaders who must lead or the whole organization will blow up. The four leading nations of the world will defeat the Axis, but there will be no permanent peace until these four chart the way in peace.

His objection to the secrecy of these conferences is just as ridiculous. As District Attorney, Thomas E. Dewey did not hire a brass band to convict law breakers; as Governor of New York he certainly holds conferences with his advisers behind closed doors. Until the four great nations can decide upon a post-war program, there can be no sense in parading before the people of the world the various, and probably conflicting ideals, of those seeking to write a peace program.

Probably the most serious mistake the Governor is making is a promise to bring the boys home after the war. If Germany and Japan are to be under the close scrutiny of the United Nations after the war, some one is going to have to stay in those nations and be on guard. In 1918-19 we said "to hell with Europe," and this statement created the isolationist policy within the nation. Dewey is not making such a strong statement today, but almost as bad. He bases his charge on statements of Selective Service head, General Hershey. Of course he touched a vital spot in deploring the unauthorized and often ridiculous statements which are made by department heads in Washington. Hershey has been one of the chief sinners in changing his mind every day. He probably did say that it was cheaper to keep the men in uniform than to bring them home and give them jobs. Army officers are running things in Washington, and are getting everything they demand. But the policy of the army in time of war is not going to be the policy of the nation after the Axis is whipped.

Listen to the other of Dewey's speeches as he tours the nation, and then get set to hear the reply of the President.

John Foster Dulles is the adviser of Governor Dewey on foreign affairs. If Mr. Dulles believes today as he did four short years ago, he is one of the most rabid and uncompromising isolationists in the nation. He is a prominent lawyer and has spent much time abroad. He justified the dictators when they started their march in Europe; he opposed an economic blocade against Japan, because this would hurt some of the big firms he represented, as an outstanding corporation lawyer; he preached the doctrine that there was no danger from foreign invasion of any foreign foe. He is slated to be Secretary of State if Dewey is elected. Dulles was an isolationist only a few years ago, and there is nothing in his public record to indicate that he has changed his mind.

In spite of the fact that all public officials and the people generally throughout the nation believe that the war with Germany will be over in a few weeks, the government is now spending $7,500,000 in a Panhandle war plant, building a new unit which will not be in operation for six months. In the meanwhile, other sections of this plant are reported to have been vacant for months. That's the reason why you must buy more bonds, to pay excessive prices for labor and material, to build more war plants, which will be sold by the government at 10 cents on the dollar. No one wishes to deprive any fighting man of the necessary tools for offense and defense, but this sounds very ridiculous, if the reported facts are straight.

After Oct. 2 those wishing to cash their War Bonds may walk into an authorized bank and draw the cash. This plan is devised rather than have bond owners wait until the bank may send the bonds in for redemption. The rate of cashing bonds is too great. Government officials wish to to stop this practice and believe that making it easy to cash bonds will prompt people to hold their bonds until they actually have to have money. At any rate, it is good business to hold all your bonds until they mature.

Just how serious is the situation in the national campaign? Must be pretty tough judging from recent developments. Governor Coke Stevenson has always been an independent. He does not wear the Democratic brass collar, especially when CIO and other foreign influences are trying to fit the national brass to his unwilling neck. There is a question of some 13 Democratic electors in Texas who say they will not support the President even if he carries the state. (This question may be settled before The News is printed). The Governor had a plan to give the pro and anti-Roosevelt followers a chance to make a selection. In spite of the fact that Stevenson has been an ardent critic of the New Deal frills and changing fancies, the President called him to Washington to talk things over. Does that mean that 13 electors might swing the November election? Where there is so much confusion, there is certain to be a considerable amount of anxiety on the part of the President.

The City Commission has appointed a Parks Committee. This is a good move. This committee will make a full and complete investigation of parks possibilities in Canyon and will report back to the City Commission. When citizens want something, they are too often critical of the city dads for not rushing right out and performing the job as demanded. If every citizen could hold public office for a term, whether city, school, county or state; would serve for a year or so on the official board of his church; would consent to working on the Chamber of Commerce; would get first hand information of all public enterprise—each of us would be a better citizen and would be much more lenient toward those who are seeking to serve their communities in these capacities.

A man on the street was cussing CIO interference in Texas the other day. He pointed to the fact that the men backed by CIO in the recent second primary were elected. He was giving the voters merry hell for such a state of affairs. Then it was developed that he was among the half million qualified voters in Texas who did not take time to go to the polls in August. The organized minority went to the polls, while the unorganized majority stayed at home. No wonder the minority won. They will keep on winning until such a time as the majority gets tired enough of CIO interference to go to the polls and express their opposition to such a state of affairs. Let's be realistic about the dangers which confront this Democratic nation.

One of the campaign rumors making the rounds is that President Roosevelt will turn on his personal charm in an unprecedented manner from now until election. He hopes to be re-elected by a large majority, and to carry into office with him a majority of Congress. The rumor then states that when the President is re-elected he will become the most ruthless dictator that is possible in a Democratic nation. He will back all of the so-called social reforms that he has started, and will present other social changes that would make your hair stand on end. This comes from the Republican camp, but is believed by many Democrats who are sick and tired of the New Deal.

We are now on the mailing list of the W. Lee O'Daniel News. Some good Canyon friend must have paid the Senator $5 for the subscription to keep us informed. If so, thanks, we enjoy reading the Senator's tirades. It is noticeable that in no place you find any politician or office holder supporting O'Daniel. He is a lone wolf, and is going in just one direction—the White House—he hopes. O'Daniel may never land there, but if he lives long enough and keeps on fighting he is going to keep some other aspirants from getting this choice political plum. Just now he is after the President's scalp, and there is no doubt about this as you look at his newspaper.

Many towns are planning to close up shop on V-Day, when the Germans are whipped. Churches will be opened for prayer and rejoicing, and public demonstrations are planned. Even liquor dealers have joined preachers in urging the people to be sober on that day. Practically every liquor store in the nation has agreed to close for 24 hours after the news is flashed that Germany is whipped. If liquor is bad on V-Day, why not equally bad on other days?

Dewey charges that Roosevelt is trying to "buy" the goodwill of other nations. This is a correct criticism. The man who has never had to work for money usually has little conception of its value. Roosevelt is in that class, and has a contempt for those who have money which he cannot spend for them. Economists say that the United States cannot stand four more years of Roosevelt spending. But it looks as if we shall have to do that very thing.

Song book salesmen—or women—are again running over the country. They will place $2.50 worth of song books free in any school or community gathering place—provided they sell local business firms $50 or $100 worth of so-called advertising in these books. Not a bad idea—for the song book people, but not so good for the local firms.

It will soon be school time in Canyon. Some girls, and many boys, are wondering whether they should return to school, or continue making good wages which are being offered today. Chances are that those who do not return to school this fall will never return. It is mighty hard to go back once you quit. So go to school as long as you can make the grade.

The most attractive campaign literature that comes to our desk is from CIO. Sidney Hillman is flooding the mails with printed materials. No matter what our reaction is as we open the stuff, CIO has set a new standard for publicity. It is not as elaborate as the press released in the Bricker campaign for President, but comes every week, while Bricker's was spasmotic.

The question of supplies has slowed up the drive against Germany. The layman has no conception of the vast amount of supplies which are needed for the modern mechanized army. Keeping up the supply line is just as essential as having a sufficient number of men on the firing line.

The News feels highly complimented by the fact that editorial comments from this page are quoted with regularity in the Southern Weekly. Peter Molyneaux, editor of the Southern Weekly, usually draws his material from the big city daily newspapers of the South.

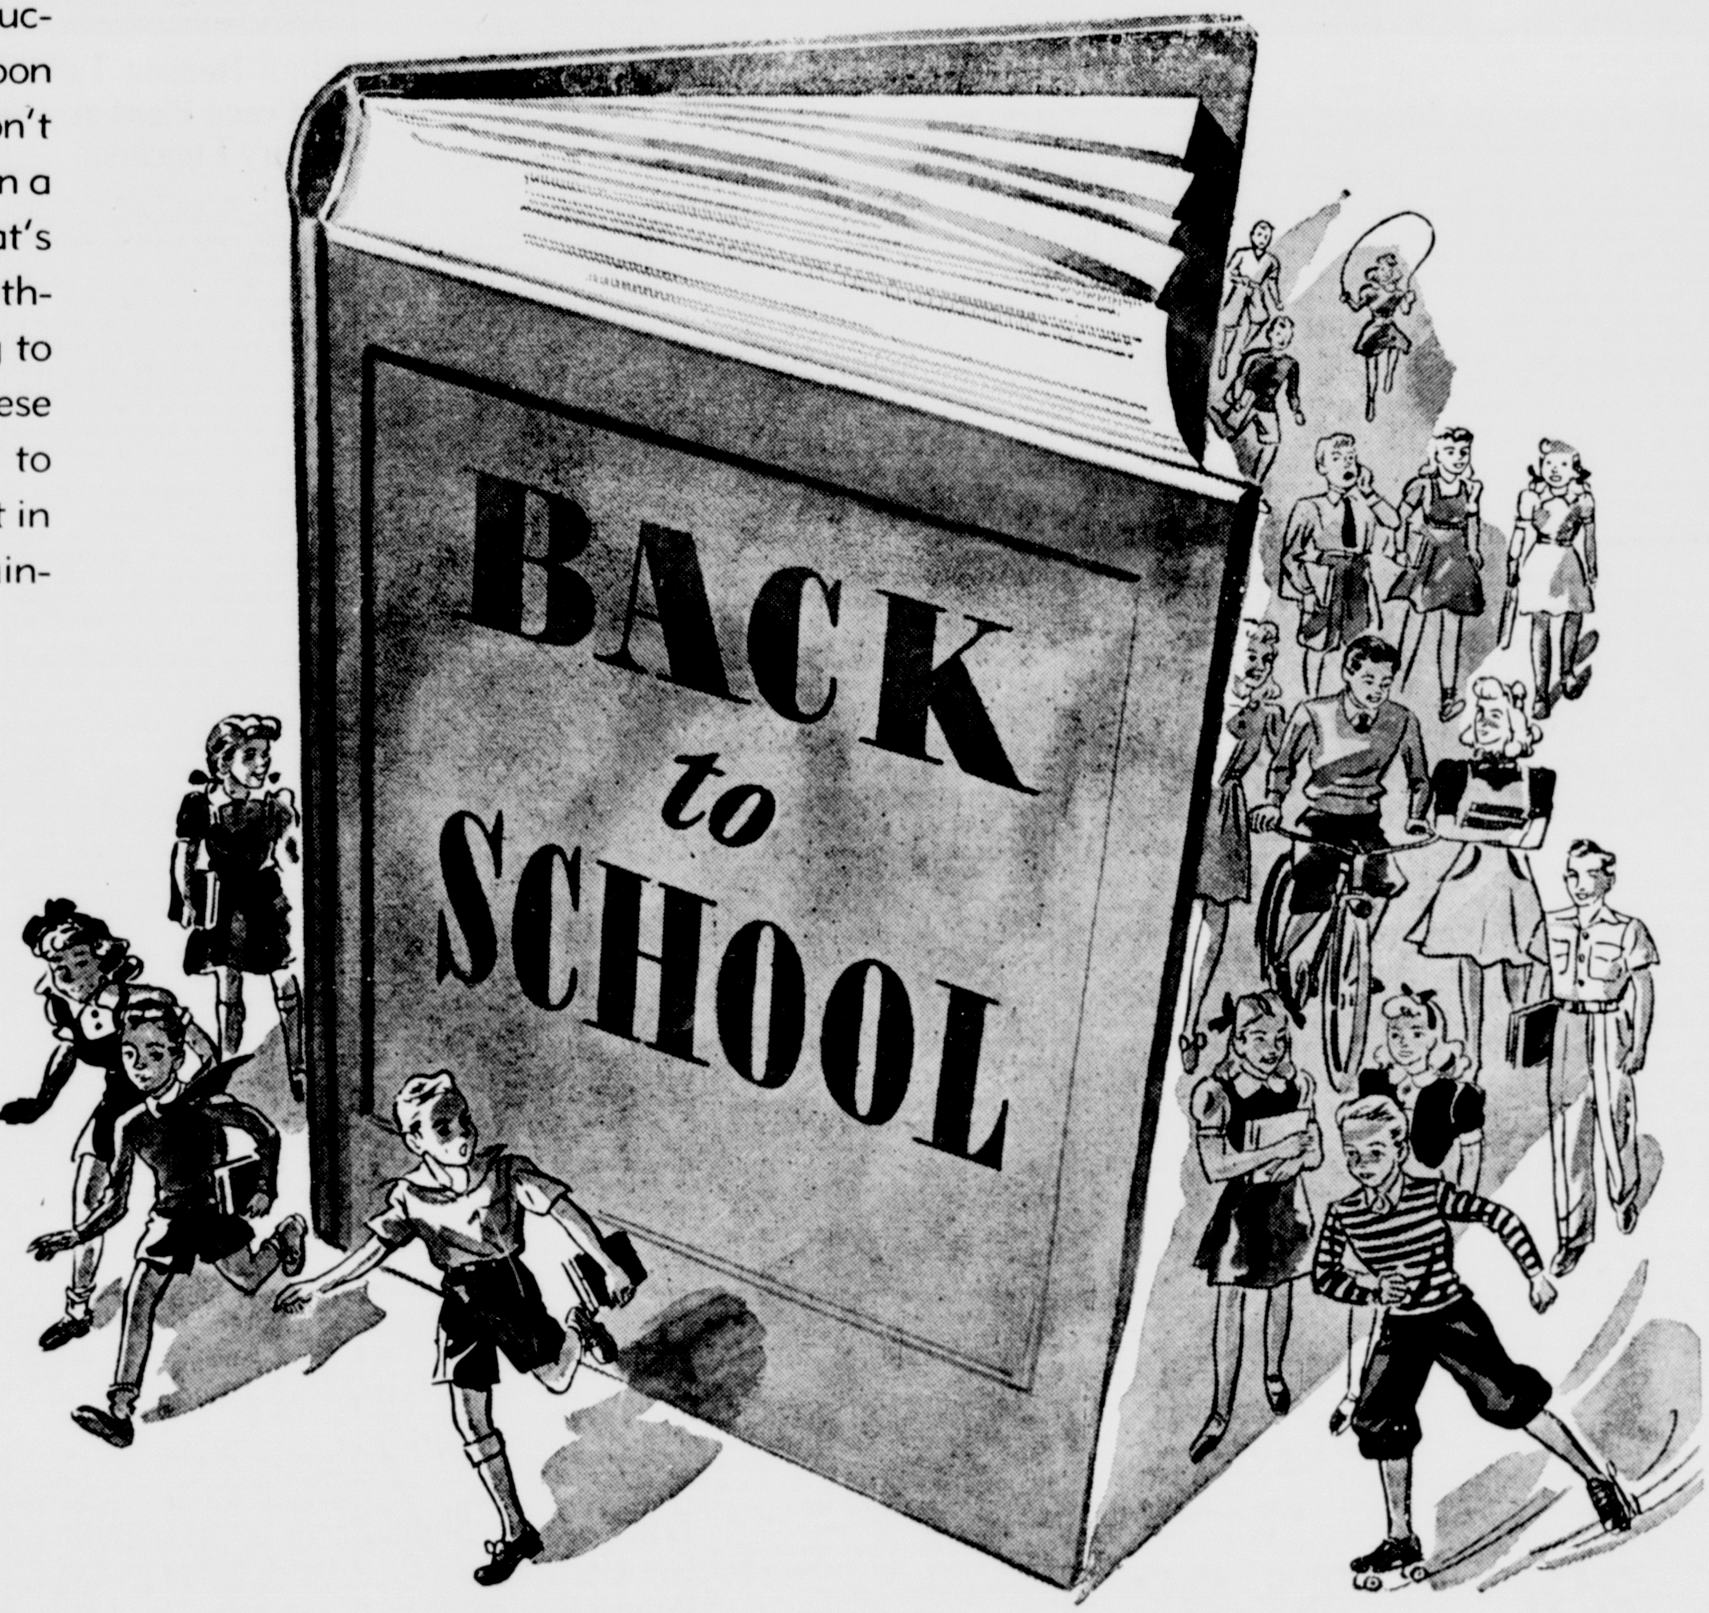
The Eyes of the World Are Upon SCHOOL CHILDREN of AMERICA

These young people of today are the hope of tomorrow's world—the success, or failure of it depends upon them, and our guess is that they won't let us down. They are growing up in a world at war, and it's a world that's dealing mighty tough blows. . . . Fathers and older brothers are fighting to help insure a peaceful world for these youngsters. Your town is geared to give its younger generation the best in education, good times and entertainment that it possibly can offer.



It's time now for their return to school. They've had their summer Vacation, but to them Vacation has not meant idle hours. . . . No, instead they have been working on nearby farms, collecting waste paper, working in local stores and plants; doing everything they could to make every minute count. We salute these young people for doing their summer jobs well, and wish them a successful, happy school year. Remember, that from the school children of today come the all-important populace of the America of tomorrow.

Truck Buyers Should Get Certificate Before Buying

Prospective purchasers of used trucks are required to make certain before acquiring the vehicles that their proposed operation meets all ODT requirements.

Since October 25, 1943, persons who were not designated motor carriers as of that date have been required to show that the operation of the truck is necessary to the war effort or to the maintenance of civilian economy.

Application for a Certificate of War Necessity must be made and the Certificate granted before gasoline allotments are made, the ODT official reminded, or, in the case of a new service, application for authority to inaugurate it must be made. These application blanks may be obtained at the ODT district office in the Fisk Building, Amarillo.

Critical shortages of trucks, tires and gasoline, it was pointed out, make it necessary that only necessary operations be approved.

The ministers and elders of the Presbytery of Amarillo held a Spiritual Advance conference at Buffalo Lake on Monday and Tuesday. Rev. C. N. Wylie and Robert W. Jones attended. The Fall Meeting of the Presbytery will be held in Silverton on Thursday, September 21. Mr. Jones is the Stated Clerk of the Presbytrey.

Virgil Henson Talks on Peace Plans at Rotary Luncheon

Virgil Henson had charge of the Rotary Club program Tuesday, talking on the peace plans of the postwar period.

The speaker told of the various plans which had been devised. The Culberson plan is one; another is that Germany and Japan shall be subjected to force by the United nations; another is that the smaller nations shall join in a federation to compete with the larger nation; and revival of the League of Nations is another.

While it is accepted by all that a world force shall be maintained in the Axis nations after the war, ultimate peace must be built on brotherly love, believed the speaker. There must be as much vigor shown in maintaining peace as there has been in winning the war.

The speaker reviewed the mistakes which caused the Allies to lose the peace after the military victory of 1918. These may be avoided through mutual understanding. America failed because our people refused to get mixed up and live under the terms of the League of Nations. This time there cannot be any sidestepping the issues. If the Allies had told the Axis 10 years ago what they might expect if they did not live peaceably, there would have not been a war.

Progress toward unity has been made during the war among the nations opposed to the Axis. If we shall protect this progress, there is a possibility of peace for many years to come.

Hosea Foster presented the budget of the Girl Scouts. The local girls are attempting to raise a budget of $350 for this year and for 1945. The Phillips Foundation will match the money raised locally. Mr. Foster, Boone McClure and Dr. Roy Johnson were appointed as a committee to work with a committee from the Lions Club in raising money for the Girl Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shook served the luncheon.

Visitors were: S-Sgt. T. S. Stevenson, Jr., Guy Ginn; W. S. Norman, Pinkey Vineyard, Leroy White, of Amarillo.

Buffalo Squad Putting in Hard Licks For Opening of Season in Oklahoma

After a gruelling week of weeding out and adding as smaller boys drop out and new boys arrive, Coaches Gus Miller and Windy Nicklaus are buckling down to hard work in preparation for their first game with Oklahoma A. & M. in Stillwater, Oklahoma, on the afternoon of September 23.

Although it is still too early to make any definite statements concerning the first or second team, the coaches are experimenting with this group as their first string or starting lineup: At center, A. D. Shaver, an eighteen year old boy from Seymour. Shaver is a college freshman without previous experience in college football.

At right guard Bill Jack Thompson, Denver, Colorado, is getting the initial call at present. Thompson, an ex-service man, played high school football at Childress high school where he lettered at guard three times. He later played one year at San Angelo Junior College before joining the merchant marines. Thompson is a sophomore college. He is handicapped to some extent by nearsightedness and asthma.

At right tackle, 17 year old Marion Goodson, son of an ex-student of W. T. may get the starting assignment. Goodson is from Childress high school without previous experience. He was a stalwart in the line for the Childress Bobcats last year, and the coaches are hoping that he can take college ball in stride. If the coaches decide to use Gene Garrison at this position, his 262 pounds should prove a definite barrier for opposing backs who wish to crash his position. Garrison is from Hobart, Oklahoma, where he played fullback on his high school team. This is his first experience at tackle.

At right end, Metz LaFollette is conceded a cinch to start. Metz, freshman forward on the 1943 basketball team and only freshman to accompany the Buffaloes to Madison Square Garden that year, is trying his luck at college football. He was a back at McKinney high school before his college days. Since his freshman year here, Metz has been in the marines and has been employed in a defense plant. He was released from service because of defective eyesight.

At left guard, Dwayne Lyons, transfer from Texas Tech, is the most likely starter. Lyons earned his freshman numeral at Tech in 1942. His home is Olton.

The coaches are shifting Dave Browder from guard to tackle in order to have Thompson, Lyons and Browder all in the lineup at once. Browder, a former Memphis high school star, played his freshman year at Texas Tech. He then transferred to Wyoming University where he played another year on the freshman team. This will be his first year of varsity competition. He is fast and aggressive, and the two guards and Browder give the team that needed experience in the line.

At left end Kenneth Glassgow, of Follett high school, is getting his first taste of college ball. He was a fullback in high school, worked out all spring and summer at guard, and shifted last week to end. He won the Golden Glove light heavy boxing championship at Amarillo last winter, and his ability as an all-round athlete enables him to pick up his new assignments rapidly.

All of these men are being pushed considerably for their positions.

Cecil Jones, a freshman from Pat Gerald's District Championship team at Vernon last year, is showing up well at end. Jones so far has proved to be the most elusive end down under passes.

Pete Brumley, a 17 year old guard from Clarendon is the roughest man on the squad, and he will probably see much service this year.

The experience in the squad lies largely in the backfield, where Coach Miller has two complete backfields—one composed entirely of letter men, three of whom lettered on the Buffalo team.

At quarter back Coach Miller is running Hank Bledsoe with the first group. Bledsoe played quarter for Hardin-Simmons in 1942 and coached at Munday high school last year after receiving his discharge from the service.

At the half, the tailback position, Eddie Castleberry is back in his old slot following a hitch in the marines and then a brief stay in the army. Castleberry was handicapped in 1942 by a bad injury to a toe that required an operation immediately after the season. This injury caused him to be released from the service twice, but Castleberry is trying hard to make it stand the season. He is another Vernon product under the coaching regime of Pat Gerald, Canyon high and West Texas star. Castleberry is 5'8" tall and weighs 170 pounds.

At fullback Coach Miller will start either Curtis Kelley, letterman from the 1942 team, or Willard Hedges, 1942 freshman wingback. Kelley is the hardest hitting man on the squad; his 190 pounds look lean on his 6'3" frame, but Kelley is all there. In 1942 he played the entire season on sweet milk dieting and rounded out the year with an appendectomy. Following his release from the army, Kelley coached last year at Petersburg high school. If Kelley starts at quarter, Hedges will start at fullback. Hedges, who is the fastest man on the team is one of the Olton twins on the team in 1942, and plays both fullback and right half, the wingback position. At either position, Hedges can use his speed to great advantage.

Sharing the right half position with Hedges on the first string, Bill Hopkins, Canadian high school star star of last year, is showing up well. He is a loose-jointed runner who relaxes completely when hit. This type of player rarely gets hurt, and the coaches are expecting Bill to play regularly because of his speed and his broken field running. Hopkins is a nephew of the famous Hales, Bill, Nay, and Alec who gained fame for W. T. and themselves in the twenties.

This list by no means includes all of the men or even all of the probable starters. James Henderson of Quanah and Pat Pruitt of Shamrock are two freshmen who were outstanding players in high school and have shown in the one week of workouts that their fame is based on true ability. Pruitt is probably the best punter on the team, and Henderson is a fine pass receiver. Both of these seventeen year old men should make real college players. Pruitt shows exceptional ability as a broken field runner although he is a bit slow in starting.

CLEARING THE HAZARDS

"Well, and what excuse have you got to offer for coming home at this unearthly hour of the night?"

"It was like this, my dear, I was playing golf with some friends and—."

"Playing golf! Are you trying to tell me you can play golf in the dark?"

"Sure, that's easy, my dear. You see, we were using the night clubs."

TOUGH ON STEVE

Little Steve, six, was a profanity addict, which caused his mother anguish no end.

One day Steve got an invitation to a playmate's birthday party. As he left the house, his mother's final caution was, "Stephen, I've asked Mrs. Wilson to send you straight home the minute you use one bad word."

Twenty minutes later Steve was back home. His mother was angry. Steve was sent to bed. His attempts at explanation were ignored. A little later, however, his mother softened and went upstairs to see how Steve was taking it. Sitting at his bedside, she inquired:

"Tell me truthfully, Steve, just why Mrs. Wilson sent you home? What did you do?"

Little Steve, humiliated, but still wrathful, replied:

"Do? I didn't do nothing. That party isn't till tomorrow."

BLUE TOKENS, FAREWELL

If you've got some blue tokens in your purse, better use them now, because after September 30 they will be good only for the kids to play with. Until next Sunday, the Office of Price Administration says, you can use them just as you always have used them. Beginning Sunday, September 17, retailers will cease giving blue tokens to consumers as ration change, and shoppers will be able to spend them only in groups of 10. If necessary, shoppers may pool tokens to make up groups of 10. Removal of practically all canned and bottled vegetables and fruit spreads and specialties from rationing September 17 makes use of blue tokens unnecessary. Beginning September 17 point values on canned fruits, canned juices, canned tomatoes, catsup and chili sauce will be designated in multiples of 10.

THOSE TIRE INSPECTION RECORDS

Keep those tire inspection records until you get your new mileage rationing record form along with your new "A" book, OPA says. Since discontinuance of the periodic tire inspection last April, tire inspection records have been kept primarily as a record of gasoline rations issued each automobile, and will no longer be necessary when the new form is issued. Outside the East Coast States, the new "A" book will go into use September 22, and in the 17 East Coast States, February 9.

LOOSEN LID ON STOVE RATIONING

The rationing of coal and wood stoves to consumers will end October 15, the War Production Board and OPA have announced, although rationing of oil an gas stoves will continue. Supplies of coal and wood stoves have grown sufficiently since nation-wide rationing started in August, 1943, to make continued rationing unnecessary.

SHOE RATIONING STILL WITH US

Civilians cannot hope for an early end of shoe rationing, WPB says, unless imports of hides increase or unless there is a large cutback in military orders. Hide shortages continue in spite of a large domestic kill of cows and calves. Heavy civilian and military consumption and decreased imports account for the shortage.

PLEASE DON'T BUY OUR SHOES

The Australian Commonwealth Footwear Controller has asked American Army Authorities to limit purchases of civilian shoes by American Troops, the Australian News and Information Bureau says. Sales of footwear to Americans on leave have been seriously reducing supplies for Australian civilians, inasmuch as half of Australia's total output of boots and shoes already is going to Australian and Allies forces.

RETURNED "G. I. JOES" GET JOBS

More than 50,000 returned veterans of the present war were placed in jobs during July by the Veterans Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission, thus making a total of more than a half million who have been placed. Employers are offering veterans the cream of the jobs that come within their capacities, WMC says.

EVER TRY ALLIGATOR-TAIL OIL (QM)

While Americans complain about their basic gasoline ration of two gallons per car per week, folks in other parts of the World have had to resort to grotesque expedients to keep their automobiles running, the Foreign Commerce Weekly, official publication of the Department of Commerce, says. Cuba is reported to be using fuel that is 75 per cent gasoline and 25 per cent rum, while on the island of Martinique a mixture of 92 per cent rum and eight per cent gasoline is recommended. Alligator-Tail oil is reported successfully used as a diesel fuel in the State of Para, Brazil, and free Chine has made motor fuel out of Tung oil.

INTO BUSINESS FOR THEMSELVES

As many as three million returned veterans may choose to go into business for themselves after the war, according to estimates cited in an article in Domestic Commerce, monthly publication of the Department of Commerce. To help the veteran learn something about Small Business before he embarks on an enterprise, the Department of Commerce is preparing a series of text books covering Small Business in many fields. These books will be used for voluntary study in the Army Education program and in other branches of the Armed Services.

MOVIES HELP TEACH FARM SKILLS

Great-grandfather probably would turn twice in his grave to learn that movies are now being used to help teach such fundamental farm skills as horse-shoeing, sheep-shearing and repairing of farm machinery—all to speed up the training of wartime farm workers. To help farmers keep old equipment in working order, the U. S. Office of Education, Federal Security Agency, has produced films on mowers, grain drills, cultivators, tractors and two-bottom tractor plows. In addition there are films on horseshoeing, sheep-shearing, community canning and repainting frame buildings. The films are used in vocational agriculture classes, 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America meetings, extension groups and community gatherings. Purpose of the films is to teach the beginners and to show old-timers new and better ways of doing these things.

THEY'RE PAYING OFF MORTGAGES

Farm Credit Administration borrowers with Land Bank and Commissioner Loans repaid four times more than they borrowed during the year ended June 30, thus making farmers' equities in their farms highest in 25 years, the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration reported. Farmers also have used their good farm income to buy War Bonds and add to their future payment funds in Federal Land Banks. They can use money in these funds to make payments on their farm loans in less favorable times. If farmers maintain these savings and don't waste them in farm land speculation such as prevailed after the first World War, they will be in better position to face reconversion from war to peace than at any time in the history of the Country, the Governor declared.

ROUND-UP

A prospective spread in the shortage of smaller size truck tires will affect principally small trucks such as farm trucks and those used in delivering milk, bakery products and laundry, the Office of Defense Transportation says. . . . France has been the most important source of manpower, raw materials and industrial products among all the occupied countries, the Foreign Economic Administration reports. . . . American troups in Australia have taught the Australians to like sweet corn, and the 1945 Australian crop will yield 35 million cans, the Department of Commerce reports. . . . Housewives can help the national food administration and their own family meals by using more onions in late September and early October when storage space will be scarce, WFA says. . . . While foods properly canned will last longer, in normal times of food plenty home economists recommend eating them within the year, the Department of Agriculture says.

Captain Crump was assigned a new orderly, who was a raw recruit.

"Your work," advised the Captain, "will be to clean my boots, buttons, belts, etc. and keep 'em all shined up. Then you'll have to shave me, see to my horse and keep it groomed, and clean the equipment, help serve the breakfast then lend a hand washing up. At 8 o'clock go on parade drill till 12 o'clock. Then you—"

"Excuse me, sir," broke in the recruit, "is there anybody else in this Army besides me?"

BALDHEADED ROW

The Battle of Bull Run is the name used in reference to two different battles. The first, July 21, 1861; the second, August 30, 1862. Both battles were between the Union army and the Confederates. Both were won by the Confederates. The first battle of Bull Run is sometimes known as the Battle of Manassas.

Although the Battle with the British at Bunker Hill was lost by the Americans, June 17, 1775, so many British lives were lost compared with the American losses that it was the equivalent of a victory for the Continental army. A $11,000 monument was erected on the site in 1842, in tribute to the American soldiers.

Texas' famous Fort Alamo at San Antonio, was originally a mission church. It was converted into a fort during the War of Independence, in 1836.

A Texas soldier in North Africa, addressing his fellow Texans, said: "Our job here is to promote good neighborliness. We've got to be friendly with the natives. If they say Africa is bigger than Texas, agree with them."

Late in 1943, a Texas commentator predicted that it would take five more years to finish the war: "One year to whip the Germans; one year to whip the Japs, and three years to get the damyankees out of Texas."

The recruit from the North was sweating at his first experience with the heat of a Texas summer. He remarked to an old Texan who was standing nearby: "I'll sure be glad to get back to Michigan." The other replied: "I reckon a man has to be born and raised here to stand the weather." The Michigander exclaimed: "What! You mean to tell me that folks live here when there ain't no war?"

The above are stories from the newest book about our State, entitled "Tall Talk from Texas," published by the Naylor Company, San Antonio, and it weighs under 8 ounces, so it can be mailed to men in the service overseas without a request. The author? Your columnist.

Folks have been mighty kind to my other book, "I Give You Texas," 500 jokes of the Lone Star State, 10 editions, over 60,000 copies in less than a year. And I kept on thinking of more Texas jokes that weren't in it, and the war, politics, oil and folks just kept on producing new ones. The result: "Tall Talk from Texas."

The new book has a lot of the old-time jokes, the ones we've heard since childhood but never get tired of:

Recipe for making coffee in West Texas: After it boils, throw in an iron wedge and if the wedge sinks, add more coffee.

The one about the man who, seeing that he was about to be overtaken by a blue norther, put spurs to the thoroughbred he was riding and tried to outrace it. When he reached the barn and dismounted, he found the horse's forequarters in a heavy lather and its hindquarters frozen. Of course, pneumonia developed and proved fatal to the animal.

And if you don't know what an Amarillo kite is, "Tall Talk from Texas" tells you. An Amarillo kite is an iron shutter with a log chain for a tail."

The wise man has an open mind and a closed mouth.

V-NEWS

Many of the lower priced materials which are available at the present for use in children's clothes, house dresses, and the like are loosely woven and not pre-shrunk. To insure good results in garments made from such material, it is wise to buy about 5% more material than the pattern calls for and shrink the cloth at home before cutting. A smart looking garment cannot result if this step is omitted and the seamstress simply allows a bit at each edge for most cloth draws differently in length and width.

The shrinking process need not be difficult. Leave the cloth folded in the center and fold it loosely lengthwise. Immerse the folded cloth in cold water changing folds until the material is thoroughly dampened. Do not wring since this sets creases which are hard to remove. Hang with the center fold over the clothesline and let it remain until nearly dry. Be sure to keep the cloth in the shade to prevent loss of color. Carefully iron with the grain of the material.

If woolens have not been preshrunk, it is wise to have a reputable tailor perform this service before the cloth is cut.

Reddy!

School days again remind us that readin', ritin', 'rithmetic could hardly get across so well without another "R" necessary to modern education—Reddy Kilowatt.

From the moment their electric clock gets the youngsters up, Reddy is busy all day for them. The breakfast-table toaster, the corner traffic light, often even the school bell itself, depend on modern electric service. You can think of many more ways Reddy helps.

Lighting is the most important. All study needs it, in school or out. With the coming of shorter days, children will spend more time indoors, more time studying after dark. Here's where Reddy can do his best for students. Good home lighting is inexpensive. It takes little time or effort. It will pay dividends in easier seeing.

Make sure your light is right! Sight is priceless—light is cheap.

PARENTS — Most electrical dealers now have light bulbs in all common home sizes. Fill your empty sockets and follow these few simple rules to secure more light from your bulbs:

Wipe all light bulbs frequently. Keep reflector bowls and shades clean. Dust and dirt rob you of light!

Use the RIGHT SIZE bulb in each lamp or fixture.

A white-lined shade will reflect more light for use. A dark lining absorbs it.

Move lamps closer to points of use, so they shed light directly on the work.
